

Git Hub

- A website that hosts Git repositories
- The site has an interface for viewing repositories, managing them, and merging them
- A pull request is a request that one repository is merged with another
- Typically with collaborative development on GitHub, each developer modifies their own copy of the main repository, and merges changes via pull requests

GitHub

Your Computer