

Linked Data Structures

- Data structure formed from objects that store references to other objects in the data structure
- At least one object allows entry into the structure
  - Head of a linked list
  - Root of a tree

Linked list

Trees

Tree where children are stored in a list

One way to store posts is as a list of trees

- Each tree is stored as the top level root post, which has references to its children